

The City of Mexico, with its five hundred thousand population, cannot be called a wide open town, in the language of the sporting fraternity. At nine o'clock at night things are dead and at twelve the policemen hold the roosts. We have no all night restaurants, no all night saloons, no places of whatever nature that are permitted to remain open after a stipulated hour. A fraternal government steps in and says when people should go to bed or go to jail. This all seems very strange to the gilded youth and "old boys" coming down from the states or from the shores of Europe who are used to spend the better part of their lives after respectable people have begun to snore. It is a condition of affairs that probably does not exist in any other capital or large city of the world and it has its advantages.—City of Mexico Anglo-American.

People of this section are used to seeing Chinese passing through in bond or en route to San Francisco under guard to be deported. People at the depot this morning when No. 10 arrived saw something unusual in this line—that is, for this section. A party of twenty Englishmen were en route to New York to be deported. They were in charge of Immigration Inspector H. H. Schnell. When asked about them, he said they were being deported under the contract-labor law. A San Francisco contractor had a strike on his hands and imported these men to work for him. They were all mechanics. The labor unions of San Francisco discovered the fact and entered a complaint at once. Now Mr. Contractor is being prosecuted and will have to stand the expense of deporting the men, besides.—Tucson Citizen.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times keep from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu."
